

Why SwapLoader?

versatility & flexibility

Expanded versatility and flexibility to your customer through one truck with multiple bodies.

When you're responsible for managing multiple residential, commercial and industrial sites, any one day can bring a dizzying selection of potential duties and hard work. But for Lawrence Construction, a property management company in Toronto, Ontario just one hook-lift hoist gets the job done reliably.

This means they can efficiently plow and salt, as well as provide complete landscape duties for cleaning up inside and outside of their many properties with efficiency and ease.

"Having one truck and multiple boxes increases productivity and makes any job quicker and easier," he said. "We chose the SwapLoader105 for its size. We need to get around in some small areas and this unit proves very versatile in all situations. Because we can move so much more material in one load it saves me time and money. With the SwapLoader I no longer have the need to hire other companies to supply (garbage) bins."

Local, consistent support has made a valuable impact, too.

"My local dealer at DEL in Toronto has been very helpful for any information and repairs and modifications I need," said Budgell.

Another benefit to Swaploader is how easy it is to drive.

"The SwapLoader drives like a regular truck so we feel comfortable operating it. I have not had any problems operating in extreme temperatures or weather. It has never failed to work as required."

A happy, productive customer is what Swaploader seeks to provide the industry – and Budgell has good news to proclaim to his peers.

"I would recommend a SwapLoader for the versatility alone," he said.
